Academic English III (B)

松井ヘアブリル先生

Academic English III is an interactive course for third-year English majors designed to help students develop and actively use academic-level English. Using Reading Explorer 4 (Units 6-7), we will explore engaging topics while developing academic vocabulary, grammar, reading, critical-thinking, and communication skills. The emphasis is not simply on learning English, but on using English to express ideas, explore different perspectives, and communicate with others.

Students will read the assigned textbook sections and complete activities before class. Classes will begin with lively discussion and team-building activities, followed by pair or group work in which students compare answers, discuss the reading, and explore key ideas. This allows us to spend less class time completing textbook exercises and more time communicating in English.

Each class will finish with discussions and collaborative activities that take the day's topic beyond the textbook. Students will use the academic vocabulary and grammar from the unit to share opinions, respond to classmates, analyse issues, and make connections to the wider world. Come prepared to read, think, discuss, and use your English!
